

Union Summer:

Are you or anyone you know interested in working for social change? Union Summer is our paid ($15/hour) summer internship program for people interested in getting involved in the labor movement. Union Summer participants will spend an exciting six weeks, from June 26–August 2, 2018 working full-time and hands-on with different campaigns—talking to our community, marching for justice, and gaining first-hand experience in the movement. The positions are based in and around Seattle, but campaigns may take place throughout our region.

Application deadline is May 22, to apply go to:
<http://bit.ly/UnionSummerApplication>

Intern for Social Change

“My mom has worked union jobs, so I knew what workers can accomplish together. As Union Summer interns we participated in campaigns with workers all over the region. Union Summer has led to so many opportunities and experiences that have continued even after the summer. I really grew personally from these experiences. I have learned to believe in myself so I can lead others and help them fight for themselves.”

Anita Ibarra, Union Summer Intern

Proudly Produced by the members of SEIU 1199NW & Staff Union